

*“Walk in wisdom toward outsiders,
making the most of the opportunity.
Let your speech always be with grace,
as though seasoned with salt ...”*

— Colossians 4:5–6

What if you don’t have to be afraid of the conversation?

The Christians we admire most weren’t the ones who memorized arguments. They were the ones who knew how to listen — to a person across a table, a coworker pulled aside in the break room, a stranger on a long flight — and to recognize the moment when the conversation was ready to turn toward something more.

Jesus called those moments by no name. He just walked into them. The woman at the well. Nicodemus at night. Zacchaeus in the tree. The rich young ruler stopping Him on the road. In every one, He listened first, met the person where they actually were, and let truth do its own work.

Twenty chapters across four parts — twelve case studies from the Gospels, three from Acts, and five chapters on practice. Every claim from Scripture. Three appendices included for small-group use.

Scripture quotations from the New American Standard Bible® (NASB).
