

About the Authors

Paul Hainline writes using the Berean approach of “examining the Scriptures daily to see whether these things were so” (Acts 17:11), and letting Scripture interpret Scripture. He is the author of multiple books on Bible study, evangelism, and Christian living, including From the Beginning, Change the Mind — Change the Man, The Character No One Could Invent, Why Do You Delay, and Can These Bones Live?

He writes with his wife Pam on books for teenagers, including Your Name Means Everything: A Good Name (for young men), and Your Name Means Everything: Strength and Dignity (for young ladies).

All of his books are available as free PDF and EPUB downloads at noblemind.study, alongside the Noble Mind Study Tool — a free, offline-capable Bible study application built around the same Berean methodology.

What God Says When the Shadow Is Real

PAUL & PAM HAINLINE

Through the Valley

Most books about grief are written for after. But you’re not after. You’re in it right now.

Maybe your body is the one that is failing. Maybe you’re the one sitting beside the bed, watching someone you love move toward the end of their life on this earth. Either way, you know something most people around you do not fully understand — this valley is real, it is dark, and it does not care about your schedule or your prayers or your plans.

*This book was written for both of you.
To be read together, while you still can.*

There is no pretending here. No platitudes. No “just trust God and you’ll feel better.” This is a book for the bedside. For the chair beside the hospital bed. For the morning after the diagnosis.

Eight slow chapters drawn from Psalm 23, 2 Corinthians 4, Job 42, Ecclesiastes 4, 1 Corinthians 2, and the prophets who knew suffering as well as anyone in the Bible. No curriculum. No five steps. Only Scripture, slowly read, slowly applied, and the quiet promise that the same God who walked into Eden walks into every valley with His people.
