

Willis Workbook × The Love God Calls Us To

Coverage Map — Lesson 16: 1 Corinthians 13

Charles Willis's 1 Corinthians Back to the Bible workbook covers the whole letter in twenty-one lessons. The Love God Calls Us To (TLGCUT) is a focused exegesis of 1 Corinthians 13 — sixteen chapters covering verses 4–13. This map shows how TLGCUT answers the questions of Lesson 16 (the single workbook lesson devoted to chapter 13), pulling from both the Student Workbook and the Teacher's Manual.

Student Workbook — Lesson 16 Questions

Q1 — What had the Corinthians forgotten in their zeal for spiritual gifts (13:1–3)?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 1 — A More Excellent Way	Direct exegesis of 13:1–3. Shows why the Corinthians' chase after the showy gifts was a chase after nothing without love, and why love is the more excellent way.

Q2 — For each of the traits describing love, relate how the Corinthians were not showing love in the current behaviors revolving around spiritual gifts.

Every TLGCUT attribute chapter opens with the Greek word, then exegetes the trait, then has a section explicitly titled or framed as "What was happening in Corinth" before closing with application. So each Willis sub-question gets both a doctrinal walk-through and the Corinthian behavior diagnosis.

Willis sub-Q	Attribute (NASB)	TLGCUT chapter
2.A	Love is patient.	Ch 2 — Love Is Patient
2.B	Love is kind.	Ch 3 — Love Is Kind
2.C	Love is not jealous.	Ch 4 — Love Is Not Jealous
2.D	Love does not brag and is not arrogant.	Ch 5 — Love Does Not Brag + Ch 6 — Love Is Not Arrogant (TLGCUT treats the two clauses as separate chapters, since Paul uses two different Greek verbs — perpereuetai for brag and physioō for arrogant.)
2.E	Love does not act unbecomingly.	Ch 7 — Love Does Not Act Unbecomingly
2.F	Love does not seek its own.	Ch 8 — Love Does Not Seek Its Own
2.G	Love is not provoked.	Ch 9 — Love Is Not Provoked
2.H	Love does not take into account a wrong suffered.	Ch 10 — Wrong Suffered
2.I	Love does not rejoice in unrighteousness, but rejoices with the truth.	Ch 11 — Love Does Not Rejoice in Unrighteousness but Rejoices with the Truth
2.J	Love bears all things.	Ch 12 — Love Bears All Things
2.K	Love believes all things.	Ch 13 — Love Believes All Things
2.L	Love hopes all things.	Ch 14 — Love Hopes All Things
2.M	Love endures all things.	Ch 15 — Love Endures All Things

Coverage: 13 of 13 sub-questions, 1:1. Willis lists thirteen attribute clauses; TLGCUT devotes a full chapter to each. (Chapter 5+6 together handle the single clause "does not brag and is not arrogant" because Paul uses two distinct verbs.)

Q3 — 13:9–10 speak of the "part" (or partial) and the "perfect" (or complete). What are these referring to?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 16 — Love Never Fails	Direct exegesis of 13:9–10. Identifies the partial as the apostolic-age means of revelation (prophecy, tongues, knowledge) and the perfect (Greek teleios) as the completed New Testament canon — with the scaffolding/building metaphor for how the partial gave way to the complete.

Q4 — When will miraculous gifts be done away with (13:10)?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 16 — Love Never Fails (section: "When will miraculous gifts be done away?")	Direct answer: when the perfect came — when the revelation of God in the New Testament Scriptures was complete. Same chapter, separate sub-section.

Q5 — What comparison does Paul use to illustrate his point (13:11)?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 16 — Love Never Fails	Direct exegesis of 13:11 (the childhood-to-maturity comparison). Frames Paul's metaphor as the church's infancy (partial gifts) versus the church's maturity (full Word) — not as this-life vs. next-life.

Q6 — In context how do "we see in a mirror dimly" (13:12)?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 16 — Love Never Fails	Direct exegesis of 13:12. Distinguishes two layers: the completed canon answers 13:9–10, but the mirror/face-to-face in 13:12 reaches further — to the believer's eternal seeing of the Lord. Holds both at once.

Q7 — When will we "know fully" (13:12)?

TLGCUT chapter	What it adds
Ch 16 — Love Never Fails	Direct answer in the same exegesis: the full knowing is the believer's "then" in glory — at death and consummated at the resurrection.

Coverage of Q3–Q7: all five questions answered in Ch 16. Ch 16 has explicit subsections for each.

Teacher's Manual — Lesson 16 Additions

The Teacher's Manual adds three things to the Student Workbook page: a Class Starter, and two optional Class Activities.

Class Starter

"Ask students: 'Do you love your family?' After they finish laughing, ask them, 'How do you demonstrate your love for your family?' Many answers will likely be given. Connect these ideas to the discussion on love in this chapter, and point out how the 'body of Christ' is a family."

TLGCUT support. The body-as-family thread is woven through several chapters but is most concentrated in Ch 8 (Love Does Not Seek Its Own) and Ch 12 (Love Bears All Things), both of which treat the local church as the family of God and frame love's outworking in family terms. A teacher could open by reading a single paragraph from one of those chapters after the class-starter discussion to anchor the family analogy in Scripture.

Class Activity 1 — Demonstrating that miracles have ceased

"Present a very brief description of some of the religious groups who today believe miraculous gifts continue... Have students demonstrate their understanding of chapter 13 by explaining how miracles have ceased."

TLGCUT support. Ch 16 is exactly this argument, laid out in sequence: the gifts named, the teleios identified as the completed New Testament, the scaffolding/building metaphor, and the childhood-to-maturity comparison. A student who has read Ch 16 should be able to articulate the cessation argument from Scripture in a role-play.

Class Activity 2 — Reviewing the attributes through a marriage/dating frame

"Be certain the later half of the chapter has been well covered, and understood. If so, review the attributes of love again with the idea of a romantic relationship — specifically marriage, perhaps with flavors of 'dating.' Help the boys understand what should be their proper attitude toward a woman, and the girls to understand what they should be looking for in a man. Notice please that 'love' (in the chapter) is not about physical attraction!"

TLGCUT support. Every attribute chapter (Ch 2–Ch 15) closes with application that lands in real relationships — family, marriage, brotherhood — without sentimentalizing the attribute. A teacher running this activity could assign one attribute per student and have each prepare a one-minute "what this looks like in dating/marriage" from the closing pages of the relevant TLGCUT chapter. The class-edition of TLGCUT, designed for junior-high/high-school use, makes this application explicit.

At a glance

Workbook coverage	Score
Student Workbook questions (Q1 + Q2A–M + Q3–Q7)	20 of 20 answered
Teacher's Manual Class Starter	Supported by Ch 8 and Ch 12
Teacher's Manual Class Activity 1 (cessation)	Fully supported by Ch 16
Teacher's Manual Class Activity 2 (relationship application)	Supported by all attribute chapters

Lesson 16 is fully covered. TLGCUT was written as a chapter-by- chapter walk through 1 Corinthians 13:4–13, and it answers every question Willis poses for that chapter. A teacher pairing the two could use TLGCUT either as background reading before each class or as a sourcebook for student presentations on the attributes.
